

PERSONAL PROPERTY MEMORANDUM

OF

If my Last Will and Testament contains a provision whereby I may create a personal property memorandum regarding the disposition of tangible personal property owned by me at the time of my death, then I intend that this document qualifies as said Memorandum. Only the most recently signed and dated version of this Memorandum shall be valid, and it may contain multiple pages, each bearing the date and my original signature. I designate the following beneficiaries to receive the tangible personal property described below, so long as the items still exist as my tangible personal property and have not been discarded or transferred during my lifetime to any other individual, entity, or trust, and so long as the recipient shall survive me by ninety (90) days:
